The Librarian,

Dear Sir,

In reply to your circular asking for a copy of my Annual Report for the past year, I may say that my latest report relates to the year 1908, a copy of which was forwarded to you when issued. I have given instructions for my report for 1909 to be sent to you, but this will not be in print for some months.

I would like to say that at an early date we in the provinces hope to be able to utilise the library (although of course to a limited extent), because I find that my visits to London are so short that I cannot take advantage of the library, which must be of immense value to metropolitan men.

I am hoping to call at an early date so that I can peruse the last 10 or 12 numbers of the R.A.M.C. Journal.
